DETAILED ACTION

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Moriau et al (6006486).

In regards to claim 1: Moriau et al. teaches a panel with a top side having a decorative layer (Col 8, lines 65-66) with a core underneath (Col. 8, line 60). The panel also has means for the releasable connection of at least two panels allowing for locking in the transverse and vertical directions (Col. 2, lines 16-17 and 50-52). Coupling elements are also on a second side edge that is perpendicular to the first edge (Col. 3, lines 23-25 and Col. 6, lines 36-39). The coupling elements are in the form of a tongue and groove with the tip of the tongue having a continuously curved contour (Col. 5, lines 55-60 and Col. 6, lines 39-43).

In regards to claim 2: The structure as taught by Moriau et al. above has a contour of the underside that is at least 90 degrees (Figures 2, 3, 4; element 12)

In regards to claim 3: The structure as taught by Moriau et al. above has a groove with a top lip (Figures 2-4, element 18) and a bottom lip (Figures 2-4, element 14) wherein the tongue is latched (Figure 4) where the underside of the tongue is round (Figures 2-4).

In regards to claim 4: The structure as taught by Moriau et al. above where the coupling element has, starting from the underside, an inner wall and an outer wall each having a form-fitting element (Figure 22, element 4); and opposite has, starting from the top side, an inner wall and an outer wall with corresponding form-fitting elements (Figure 22, element 3). The coupling elements as mentioned where the element starting from the underside forms a shoulder with an essentially horizontal head surface (Figure 22, element 76) and a channel in the head surface (Figure 23, element 81).
